Identity and Credential Access Management (ICAM)

This project aims to improve security for access to physical and cyber assets and ensure compliance with relevant standards. It involves implementing a new system for managing and revoking access, providing self-service options for access requests, automating data gathering for access verification, and integrating with critical systems, ultimately retiring the old access management process. The project is a phased effort focusing on initial compliance and automation.